ROOMS & SUITES

Located high above Columbus Circle, Mandarin Oriental, New York's 244 stylishly appointed guestrooms and suites reflect the oriental heritage of Mandarin Oriental while incorporating contemporary elements of New York City. The 198 deluxe rooms and 46 suites are spacious and elegantly appointed, featuring the latest in-room entertainment technology. And with every one of them comes a breathtaking view of Central Park, the scenic Hudson River, and the Manhattan skyline.

Rooms

Mandarin Oriental, New York's 198 guestrooms each offer a panoramic view of Central Park or the Hudson River. The color scheme is ivory with blue and warm gold accents, while its furniture is inspired by pieces from the 1940s.

The art collections are eclectic, featuring Paul Ching-Bor, a Taiwanese artist who created a series of paintings featuring bridges of New York City, as well as another artist from China, formally trained by a Chinese watercolor master and now residing in NYC.

Creating a workspace to meet all the needs of today's business traveler was taken into consideration in the meticulous design of the guestroom. Each room offers user-accessible auxiliary panels custom built into the furniture, offering simplified connectivity between the in-room entertainment system and guests' personal technology.

The guestroom layouts differ in the treatment of the baths, one in a more traditional style, while the other features a wrap-around bath. The bathroom features a Spanish marble in soft beige, which is used throughout. A cherry vanity with an Italian granite top completes the vision of simple elegance. Many bathrooms feature soaking tubs situated at windows, allowing guests to enjoy the views of New York while relaxing in the bath.

Suites

Overlooking Central Park, the Hudson River, and the Manhattan skyline, the 42 suites have been designed to reflect New York City life through the course of a day celebrating the city's sunrise, dusk, and nights. Situated on the corners of each guest floor, the suites blend a modern interpretation of Mandarin Oriental's Asian flair with a luxurious, residential aesthetic commemorating three unique themes and color palettes—New York Sunrise with vivid hues of orange and yellow, New York Dusk featuring shades of teal to reflect the waters of the Hudson River, and New York Nights showcasing vibrant tones of amethyst.

New York Sunrise: Central Park View Suite

Featuring views of Central Park and the Hudson River, the 820 square-foot Central Park View Suite has been designed to reflect the quiet hours of New York mornings with vivid hues of orange and yellow. The vibrant palette is paired with abstract paintings, including Speakith by Per Johansson and Street Scene by New York-based artist Steve Wasterval.

New York Dusk: Hudson River View Suite

Featuring shades of teal to reflect the waters of the Hudson, the 800 square-foot Hudson River View Suite offers a serene respite from the energetic scene of the city during the rush of late afternoon. The suite's theme is brought to life with Steve Wasterval's Perrier and Emmanuel Frangeul's Crowds which capture the momentum of New Yorkers during their daily commute.

New York Nights: Premier Central Park View Suite

With panoramic views of Central Park and the glittering city skyline, the 800 square-foot one-bedroom Premier Central Park View Suite and 1,220 square-foot two-bedroom Central Park West Suite captures the moment at sunset when the city comes to life with vibrant tones

Suite 5000

Spanning an impressive 3,300 square feet, Suite 5000 is an awe-inspiring space designed in a luxurious residential setting and defined by the culture of NYC—particularly in its art, music, fashion, and design. Overlooking Central Park, the Manhattan skyline, and the Hudson River from the 50th floor, the two-bedroom, two-and-a-half bath suite epitomizes luxury in the sky.

Guests are welcomed through a formal entry to a living and dining area, which is serviced by a full-sized chef's kitchen. Suite 5000 features custom-designed furnishings and state-of-the-art technology to give the space a sense of comfort and ease. Control4 panels allow guests to control lighting, blinds, temperature, and music throughout the suite. A record player sits in the entertainment area and is complemented by a curated record collection representing old and new styles of music from various New York City neighborhoods.

Curated one-of-a-kind art pieces and design details are seen throughout the space. The master bedroom, closet and bathroom were designed to recall the glamour and history of New York's exclusive Park Avenue addresses. The master bedroom features an elegant custom bed complemented with handmade wallpaper, while a large round soaking tub illuminated by a ring of Swarovski crystals highlight the master bathroom. Upon entry, guests are greeted by a seven-foot geometric art piece called Saida: Chrome from artist Steven Naifeh that explores the kinship between the West and the East, as well as a few eclectic pieces called Fruity Delight in Every Bite by Rachel Lee Hovnanian made from cereal boxes and Alben's Darth Vader Coke Zero that resembles the fictional character using recycled soda cans. portraits of the international fashion scene by famed fashion photographer Anna Bauer are featured within the master closet. A custom-cut Calcutta gold marble pattern on the entry floor was designed to resemble orchid petals, a nod to the hotel's Oriental heritage, while the dining area features a Swarovski crystal installation that cascades down like a waterfall. Every inch of Suite 5000 was thoughtfully considered to create a one-of-a-kind experience.

Presidential Suite

Offering panoramic views of Central Park, the Hudson River, and the Manhattan skyline, the 2,230 square feet, one-bedroom, one-and-a-half bath Presidential Suite located on the 53rd floor, features custom-designed furnishings in tones of chocolate brown, accented with luminous brushed gold and deep Chinese red accessories. The large Mozambique wood-panelled living and dining area lead to a private media room and study and fully equipped kitchen complete with stainless steel appliances, Nespresso machine, and private entrance for culinary staff. The Presidential Suite boasts the latest in state-of-the-art technology including Bang & Olufsen 65-inch plasma and 40-inch LCD televisions, 8-speaker surround sound system, five independent zone audio capability, Blu-ray HDDVD playback, Xbox 360 gaming console and electronically controlled light, temperature and sound systems through the room's iPad.

Upholstered in pearl-toned silk, the master bedroom is adjacent to a sycamore-panelled walk-in closet and spectacular master bath, encased in honey onyx walls and complete with a separate oversized soaking tub overlooking Central Park and glass-enclosed steam and shower for two. A combination of New York and Asian art and artifacts is used throughout the suite, blending touches of the Orient with contemporary New York including a 250-year-old parchment calligraphy book featuring Chinese characters conveying a story of happiness and good fortune.
