BANGKOK

Taking inspiration from Mandarin Oriental, Bangkok's history, the spirit of Bangkok and the recent renovation, Jim Thompson was commissioned to create the hotel's new signature fan.

For more than 143 years, travellers have followed the majestic Chao Phraya River to stay at the legendary Mandarin Oriental, Bangkok. A haven of calm on the banks of the River of Kings, this iconic hotel has always been a truly remarkable place that understands and knows Bangkok as well as it does its guests.

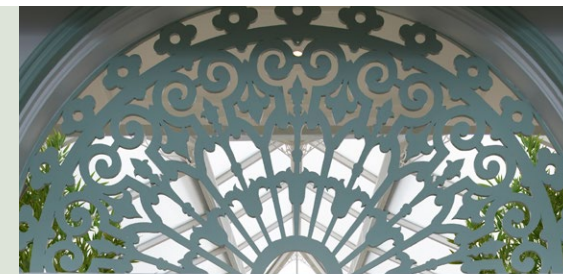

This unique hotel is home to many firsts. Not only was it the first luxury hotel to open in Thailand, but it was also the first to open on Bangkok's vibrant riverside, the first to have electricity and air conditioning, the first with a hotel spa and the first to have a hotel bar.

In keeping with the successful restoration of the Authors' and Garden Wings, internationally renowned designer Jeffrey Wilkes recently completed the hotel's largest-ever restoration in the River Wing, helping to confirm this iconic hotel's position as one of the best in the world.

Elegantly designed and sumptuously refined, each of the newly renovated rooms and suites reflects the spirit of Bangkok, including the hotel's Chao Phraya River location, whilst embracing the technology and convenience of the 21st century.

Light and fresh details, from Royal Barge sculptures in hammered brass to the river's reflection in rugs and teak floors, are complemented by whitewashed wooden paneling, textured linens and rich silk Jim Thompson fabrics to enhance the hotel's unique resort style.

Combining classic Thai elegance with modern touches, each of the hotel's 60 luxurious suites, that range in size from 83sqm to 367sqm, offer breathtaking views of the River of Kings. 28 of these suites can be interconnecting making them ideal for friends or families travelling together and are home to dedicated sitting and dining areas providing the perfect setting for entertaining. Butlers are on hand to assist with all arrangements.

Built in 1876, The Oriental's legendary journey started in the historic Authors' Wing. Today guests can savour the hotel's famed afternoon tea in The Authors' Lounge or experience history by staying in the Royal and Ambassador Suites.

Mandarin Oriental, Bangkok is home to 11 highly individual restaurants and bars including much-loved greats and two-Michelin-starred French dining in Le Normandie. Thai delicacies can be enjoyed at Sala Rim Naam and Chinese treats at The China House. Lord Jim's, fondly referred to as Bangkok's meeting place, tempts guests with fresh seafood and prime cut meats, whilst Kinu by Takagi offers guests refined Kaiseki dining in an intimate setting.

Dining on the banks of the River of Kings offers a majestic and vibrant setting. Mandarin Oriental, Bangkok offers guests a range of culinary experiences from which to admire the Chao Phraya River. These include The Verandah and Riverside Terrace for international all-day dining and BBQ, Ciao Terrazza for Italian specialties and Terrace Rim Naam for unique Thai cuisine.

Guests looking for entertainment will enjoy The Bamboo Bar's famed nightly jazz performances and creative cocktails, whilst those looking for an authentic Thai experience should not miss Sala Rim Naam's cultural evening performances. Budding chefs can book a class at The Oriental Thai Cooking School to learn how to create some of the famed regional dishes at home.

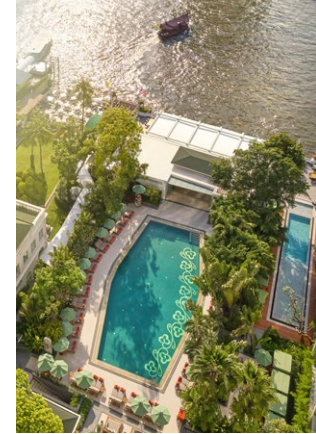

The Oriental Spa offers an oasis of peace and tranquillity, promoting an aura of relaxation, mindfulness and life balance in a restored, century-old teakwood house. It is here that guests can discover a range of treatments that blend traditional Thai ancient rituals with modern Western techniques.

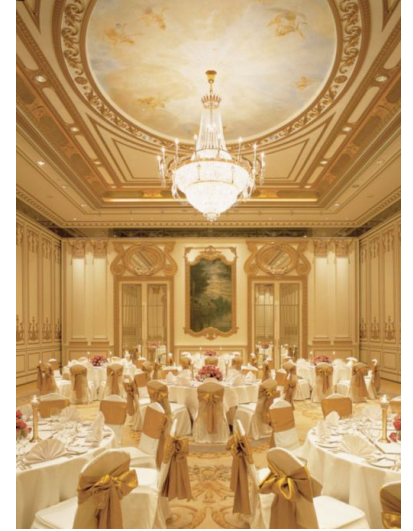

Tailored to the cosmopolitan luxury traveller, the hotel's Fitness & Wellness Centre offers a state-of-the-art gymnasium, a yoga studio, floodlit tennis courts and even a Muay Thai boxing studio and jogging track. Mandarin Oriental, Bangkok is also home to two outdoor swimming pools for laps or relaxation.
