

terrat

by Gaston Acurio

“There was a time when women & men around the world came to Peru looking for a dream. In doing so, they embraced the local culture along with their passions, their culture and their memories.

This is how gradually Peruvian cuisine was born, a cuisine full of influences that takes the best of each community to turn it into something unique.

The Peruvian cuisine gets the best of Japanese fish culture & Chinese vegetable farming to celebrate its most iconic dish, “The Ceviche”. In our Restaurant Terrat, The Mediterranean Sea meets The Pacific rim by blending Peruvian flavors and the best selection of Spanish products”.
