RESTAURANTS AND BARS

Mandarin Oriental Jumeira, Dubai offers an eclectic range of cuisines and unique dining experiences in its six distinctive restaurants and lounges.

Tasca, the Hotel's signature Portuguese poolside restaurant, courtesy of celebrity chef José Avillez, is bursting with character and flavour, with all ingredients and products sourced from Portugal. This upmarket dining experience has been a hit with Dubai residents and international travellers alike since its inception, bringing something truly unique to the Dubai dining landscape. The restaurant provides guests with a chic and captivating Portuguese dining experience with the largest selection of Portuguese wines in Dubai.

Overlooking the rooftop infinity pool, the restaurant's colour palette incorporates vivid blue, pale sanded wood, polished white, grey marble and painted white bricks, creating a sophisticated feel that reflects the resort's beach chic vibe. Guests can enjoy live demonstrations at both the bar and open kitchen, with chefs and bartenders working together to create unique culinary and beverage delights.

Netsu, a Warayaki-style Japanese steakhouse brings this concept – the first of its kind in Dubai, and the largest outside of Japan – to the region. Helmed by Australian-born Ross Shonhan, the restaurant offers authentic Japanese cuisine in a contemporary setting. With a wood and concrete interior combined with an outdoor terrace dotted with pools of water and featuring an outdoor bar, Netsu's design is as spectacular as its menu.

Showcasing the traditional Japanese cooking technique of Warayaki; originating from Kochi Prefecture in Shikoku, Netsu's chefs grill food using dry straw instead of charcoal giving it a unique flavour and taste. Meats and seafood are beautifully seared on the outside maintaining a very tender and juicy flesh on the inside. The soaring flames create a spectacle and add a theatrical element to the dining experience.

The menu includes Warayaki-style grills, sushi and sashimi platters as well as other Japanese dishes to be enjoyed as shared plates. The drinks are a signature feature of the restaurant's experience and guests can expect masterfully crafted cocktails using fresh Japanese ingredients with a nod to classic flavours. The wine list offers over seventy labels and an extensive selection of sake served in unique sake pots. A sake sommelier, who specialises in premium Japanese artisanal sakes, sake cocktails and craft beers, is also on hand.

The hotel is also home to The Bay, a brasserie-style ground floor restaurant with show-kitchens and family-friendly menus. The Bay offers Mediterranean-inspired cuisine, and its beachside location boasts a spectacular terrace overlooking the blue waters of the Arabian Gulf. This cosy spot offers relaxed dining in an open and airy seaside setting. Stop by for breakfast, lunch or dinner and expect a welcoming ambience and a delicious menu with dishes from across Europe including mouth-watering grills, exquisite seafood, Neapolitan pizzas, and a host of fresh salads. Craft cocktails and refreshing mocktails are also available.

The Bay's interiors with retro geometric tiles evoke the casual elegance of a Parisian brasserie. Decked in warm hues and rustic murals, the restaurant offers hotel guests and Dubai residents a relaxed yet elegant menu suitable for any gathering.

Located in the lobby, the elegant Noor Lounge offers guests a delightful assortment of teas, coffees and light refreshments. A dazzling canopy of gilded trees surrounds the area, creating a charming yet comfortable setting.
