THE SPA AT MANDARIN ORIENTAL, LONDON INTRODUCES NEW TREATMENTS WITH EXPERT THERAPISTS

Hong Kong, 18 May 2016 – Mandarin Oriental Hyde Park, London has launched new holistic treatments at The Spa at Mandarin Oriental, London. Considered one of the best luxury hotel spas in Britain, The Spa at Mandarin Oriental, London is the first spa in the capital to include Reiki and Craniosacral Therapy on its extensive menu, to help guests practice mindfulness while improving their health and sense of wellbeing.

Reiki, a healing art that originated in Japan, has gained worldwide recognition as an effective relaxation technique. Rika Tanaka, who has practised this method for more than 15 years and is one of only 13 people in the world to hold the prestigious title of Reiki Grand Master (Dai-Shihan), will take guests on a detoxifying, 80 minute journey to inner peace. Reiki releases blocked energy from the body, allowing guests to relax and heal, both physically and emotionally, resulting in stress reduction and mental clarity. Sessions priced from GBP180.

Craniosacral Therapy relieves pain and tension through gentle manipulation of the skull, which harmonises the central nervous system's natural rhythm. The Spa at Mandarin Oriental, London has created the Stillness Ritual, the only Craniosacral Therapy session offered by a London spa. In the careful hands of leading practitioner, Elena de Antoni, guests will enter into a 1 hour 50 minute mind and body calming experience that results in profound relaxation and feelings of lightness and ease. Sessions priced from GBP250.
